The London Day School

Title: Preschool Teaching Assistant

Location: Florham Park, NJ

Job Type: Part-Time

Compensation Type: Hourly

Start Date: ASAP

Job Description: Join our growing team as our Preschool Prep Toddler Teaching Assistant for our newest and much anticipated PRESCHOOL PREP CLASS.

This exciting new class, for children at least 18 months old, will give our littlest learners the opportunity to thrive in a small, nurturing and exciting environment while being exposed to the Magic that The London Day School is known for.

While assisting with our Preschool Prep Class you will:

- Engage, educate, challenge, and nurture our littlest learners through exciting age appropriate lessons, centers, play and social interaction
- Enjoy collaborating with a talented team of early childhood professionals like yourself
- Partner with parents to support, guide and share in their child’s growth and development
- Positively Impact the lives of children and families each and every day
- Create a loving, nurturing and safe learning environment every day for your students

We value our staff's contributions and pride ourselves on offering an exceptional work environment and work/life balance. A passion for the nurturing and education of young children is a must.

Interested candidates should possess:

- Exceptional teaching skills, behavior/classroom management skills and ability to engage, nurture, and interest early learners
- A passion for making a difference in the lives of your students
- Excellent work ethic and time management skills
- Excellent organizational skills, communication skills, and creativity
- Be a team player who values peer interaction and collaboration
- Bachelor or Associates degree preferred, but not required
- Experience working with children ages between the ages of 12 months and 3 years
- An overwhelming joy teaching and caring for children aged 18 months to 2.5 years old
- The ability to create a fun and exciting classroom environment every day!

Working at The London Day School will offer the opportunity to:

Work in an exciting collaborative environment, that encourages team work, creativity, the love of learning and children.
