The Summer Fun Series continues! Register Today!

We're announcing a fun and exciting series of events throughout the summer months to bring Montclair State alumni together! From an afternoon at the races to a day at the zoo, there is something for everyone at these family-friendly activities. Celebrate summer and your alma mater by spending a day with fellow graduates and friends. Our first event of this series was a Day at the Races at Monmouth Park. Alumni and friends gathered on Sunday, July 15, for a day of family fun at Monmouth Park to enjoy a day at the races and barbecue fare in an exclusive picnic area just for Montclair State. ## NSF Award Lets Professor Look Back to the Future

Earth and Environmental Studies Professor Sandra Passchier is a pioneering polar scientist in the relatively young, 60-year-old, field of internationally coordinated Antarctic research. She made her first polar trip to Greenland in 1992, as the only woman on a field team and has since visited Antarctica five times. She is planning her sixth trip in early 2019. The Antarctic ice sheet (AIS) covers 5.4 million square miles, or 98 percent, of a continent roughly the size of North America – and Passchier’s research efforts are devoted to exposing the secrets of AIS dynamics. A recent $323,113 award from the National Science Foundation (NSF) supports her three-year project that will help scientists forecast sea level rise the world over. [\[View full story\]](#)

New Animation/Illustration Class is a Game Changer

For senior Richard Guzman, video, computer and online games have been a big part of his college life, but he’s not just a gamer. Guzman is one of the creators of new games designed by Montclair State students for the University’s Game Con ’18. A BFA major in Animation/Illustration, Guzman was among the students who accepted the challenge of creating a game in Montclair State’s new Interactive Game Development course. The class covered every aspect of the game development pipeline, including ideation, game asset preparation, visual aesthetic, game programming, user experience and deployment. ## Athletics News

Jumping for Joy

With his jump of 7.92 meters, or 26 feet, George Alexandris leapt to victory – and made Montclair State history – at the NCAA Division III Outdoor Track and Field Championships at the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse on May 24. The first Red Hawk male to win an NCAA title in 25 years, Alexandris broke the 44-year national championship meet record, which was set in 1974 at the first Division III championship. He also broke the Roger Harring Stadium at Veterans Memorial Field Sports Complex record and shattered his own Montclair State record that he had set the week before. In addition, he registered the second-best mark in Division III history. [\[View full story\]](#)

Support Montclair State Athletics - 6th Annual Red Hawk Open

Proceeds from the Red Hawk Open support the more than 500 student athletes and 18 varsity athletic programs of the Montclair State University Athletic Department. Proceeds from last year's event helped purchase state-of-the-art fitness equipment for our student athletes and provided supplemental funds for team travel. Your support of the Red Hawk Open helps our students excel athletically and it demonstrates to our athletes that their effort and commitment is valued by Montclair State alumni, community members and colleagues. ### Judy Graef '66, '69 MA

Judy Graef's path has led her along many exciting adventures, and Montclair

State University was the first step. Graef, who graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree from the College of Education and Human Services and earned her master's degree in Education, says she chose Montclair State for its highly regarded Home Economics program at the time. She got her first taste of travel as a junior when six students from different departments participated in a domestic exchange program to California, and then traveled to Europe after graduation, exploring abroad on $5 a day. Since then, she's traveled across the seven continents – seeing the penguins in Antarctica, polar bears in the Arctic and tigers in the wild in Nepal. [\[View full story\]](#)

James W. Merli '83

Alumnus Jim Merli hadn't returned to campus for close to 20 years after graduation, but he has become quite a force since he has been back. Jim was awarded the Margaret and Herman Sokol Award for Alumni Achievement and Civic Engagement at the Annual Scholarship Dinner held March 3. He is an adjunct professor at the Feliciano School of Business, a member of its Business Advisory Board, an executive in residence and a donor. He and his wife, Sandy, recently made a gift to the School to name the James W. Merli Executive Conference Center. [\[View full story\]](#)
