

The Center on Global Human Trafficking

Presents

An Online Roundtable Discussion On

The Reality of Human Trafficking in the Era of Misinformation

Tuesday, February 23 at 2:30pm

Manipulative disinformation campaigns relying on social media have not only affected the very foundations of our political systems in recent years, but have also distorted our understanding of social issues, such as human trafficking. This roundtable seeks to scrutinize the connections between the politics of information dissemination, large global patterns of anti-feminist oppression in the context of transnational labor and organized crime, and systemic genderized and race-based injustice in different criminal justice systems to cope with these challenges. Panelists including scholars from a variety of fields and disciplines share their views and reflect on how to best envision and implement strategies to address these repressive, power-driven institutional and cultural obstacles at home and abroad.

Panelists

Fawzia Afzal-Khan
Department of English

Bond Benton
School of Communication and Media

Sudeshna Chatterjee
University of Massachusetts Boston

Venezia Michalsen
Department of Justice Studies

Moderated by
Arnaud Kurze
Department of Justice Studies

Register here for the event:

https://montclair.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN\_RgwZfxC3TAOmi6yr1CXD9w

You can also watch it live on YouTube here: <https://bit.ly/dmcltyc>

Photo image credit by Jim Kasade, Gerry Dincher and Mike Peters. Participant photos counterclockwise, top to bottom.

In collaboration with

