VOICE

“The voice program here at The Cali School of Music molded me in such a positive way as a performer and a human being. The students here are presented with a plethora of opportunities to perform and grow in a supportive environment, with faculty and students that care so much about artistic development and professionalism. In addition to its outstanding curriculum, it is the people that make this program so special.

—MADDIE MEIER, VOICE PERFORMANCE MAJOR, GRADUATING 2020

The John J. Cali School of Music voice program provides comprehensive training in vocal technique, diction, literature, acting, stagecraft, and pedagogy, in addition to master classes presented by world-renowned artists. Students perform a rich array of repertoire from early to new music in solo recital, large and small choral ensembles, opera scenes and fully staged operatic productions.

ABOUT THE SCHOOL
The Cali School of Music is dedicated to providing an exceptional artistic and academic education to talented and passionate students by inspiring and preparing them to serve the community as music creators, educators, performers, therapists, and scholars in order to enrich society through the transformative power of music.
