A Conversation on Diversity & Inclusion

with

Jubin Kwon & João (John) Gomes

JUBIN KWON: As Director of Marketing and Communications, I am responsible for creating and implementing The Agnes Irwin School's communications, marketing, advertising, and public relations strategies. I am proud of my six years at Montclair State University and the Office of Communications and Marketing. I am deeply appreciative of the many experiences I was able to benefit from, including (but not limited to) strategic planning, the coaching of professional staff, the opportunity to lead a comprehensive branding exercise, launching new academic programs, and responding to the COVID-19 crisis.

JOAO (JOHN) GOMEZ Born in Lisbon, Portugal, John moved to New Jersey at a young age. He is the first in his immediate family to finish high school and attend college, earning a BS in Math and Computer Science with a Minor in English from Fairfield University and an MEd in Education, Culture, & Society from Penn. John is a Math teacher and Director of Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging at The Agnes Irwin School, where he is interested in applying the DEIB lens to all aspects of the school; from curriculum, grading, and placement, to hiring, fund raising, parent outreach, and everything in between.
