Dear Faculty Member,

It is with great pleasure that I provide you information about the services provided by the division of Student Development and Campus Life. In cooperation with other divisions of the University, we are responsible for most student services and programs outside of the classroom. In your capacity as a faculty member you may serve as a student’s primary contact with the University. Students may come to you or you may notice a student in need of assistance. A simple referral on your part may make all the difference. We work with many of you on a regular basis and are appreciative of your work in helping our students succeed.

This guide has been developed to give you ready information about all of our services. It has always been the unique goal of Montclair State University, that even while we may grow in size, to maintain the personal caring of a smaller institution. Please let us know how we can help you with any student issue that you may face.

I thank you in advance for taking the time to review these materials. If you have any questions in general or regarding any case in particular, please contact any department in this guide for more information. Our staff looks forward to working with you in continuing to make Montclair State University a welcoming place for all members of our community.

How To Use This Guide

This Guide has been designed to ensure that faculty are aware of the wide range of services available to students through this division. While much of this relationship is defined by academic interactions, many faculty work with students on broader teaching objectives and student life issues. Research has indicated that a student’s relationship with their faculty on campus is central to their overall experience.

As faculty, you serve in many capacities to our students-be it as mentors, involvement with orientation or providing information and referrals. We would like to insure that you have the most accurate information available to help you.

Within the division of Student Development and Campus Life there are many different departments. This guide will provide an explanation of each department and how the staff there can assist you. The following offices are under the umbrella of Student Development and Campus Life:

The Academic Success Center (ASC) offers learning support programs to assure high quality services to Montclair State University students. The quality learning is centered on the student as an individual. Therefore, ASC continues to construct a body of work focused on the academic needs of a rapidly growing student population.

The Center, certified by The College Reading and Learning Association (CRLA), provides tutoring, supplemental instruction and academic development services. Furthermore, the national and international professional standards set by The CRLA are maintained through the application of innovative learning theories, tutoring practices, and cross-cultural training programs.

Tutorial Services

One of the main goals of the Academic Success Center (ASC) is to offer quality tutorial services to Montclair State University students. Students are encouraged to take advantage of ASC tutoring which fosters active learning, reasoning, and critical thinking. The application of active learning processes and study skills are introduced during tutoring sessions in connection with the subject being tutored. Additionally, the tutors working at the ASC are well trained in applying learning strategies and tutoring techniques to help students become more confident and competent learners while facing academic challenges head-on and mastering course content.

The Center advertises the tutoring schedule at the beginning of the semester and we encourage students to sign up for a tutoring account to take advantage of the ability to schedule in person and on-line tutoring appointments in our various tutoring centers.

The Office of Undergraduate Admissions seeks to provide the University's faculty with academically prepared students by adhering to our department’s mission. Undergraduate Admissions at Montclair State University is comprised of a team working together to help prospective students determine how Montclair State can assist them to achieve educational goals, to graduate, and to establish a lifelong relationship with the University. These values represent the efforts of a team that is committed to meeting the needs of students during all phases of the enrollment process, from initial inquiry to actual enrollment. During all phases of the Admissions process activities and communication facilitate the student’s transition and preparation for University and academic life. The ethical responsibility of the Admissions operation is to support this vision by helping prospective students determine if they are an appropriate match for both our curriculum and the career opportunities that await our graduates.

How can the Undergraduate Admissions office help you as a faculty member?

The Office of Undergraduate Admissions can assist faculty who wish to play an active role in recruiting students for their programs by collaborating with the Director of Admissions on special programs designed to attract academic talent. Whether helping to facilitate simple touches like "welcome" phone calls to accepted students, or initiating more complex, discipline specific initiatives, faculty can help to determine the mix of students in their classrooms. In previous years, the Office of Undergraduate Admissions has highlighted specific academic majors at state-wide events for guidance counselors, and has connected our faculty with high school educators to nurture a connection between their very best students and Montclair State.

Health Promotion-Subset of Campus Recreation
Coordinator: Dr. Marie Cascarano
Location: Student Center Annex Room 226
Telephone: (973) 655-7397
Web site: www.montclair.edu/campus-recreation/health-promotion/

Health Promotion is a subset of the Department of Campus Recreation that develops prevention initiatives to address health issues that are pertinent to the Montclair State University campus community. These include, but are not limited to, alcohol, tobacco and other drug use, nutrition, eating disorders, body image awareness, safer sex practices, sexuality, stress management, and mental health issues. The goal is to eliminate health disparities in student populations; increase culturally competent health promotion services; utilize best practices in public health and disease prevention; describe the relationships between health status, student retention, and academic success; while utilizing theoretical and evidence-based public health methods. Another major component of Health Promotions is the Drop-In Center that houses the Peer Advocacy Program. Specially trained student advocates provide outreach, programming, conversation, and referral services.

How can Health Promotion help you as a faculty member?

- Health Promotion is available to provide information, referrals and programs to students, faculty and staff.
- Health Promotion serves as an on-campus site for Service Learning, Co-Operative Learning and Fieldwork experiences related to academic coursework.
Student Leadership Programs is part of the Center for Student Involvement and encourages the development of student leaders through an intentional program of events, including retreats, seminars, courses, mentoring programs, learning communities, conferences, community service programs, and recognition and awards ceremonies. The office also encourages students to undertake leadership roles in clubs and organizations and student employment opportunities within the campus community, as well as to pursue leadership opportunities in state, regional, and national conferences and organizations.

Student Leadership Programs works in close collaboration with staff, faculty, and departments including the Educational Opportunity Fund Program, The Center for Advising and Student Transition Programs, Greek Life, Undergraduate Admissions, Social Justice and Diversity/Women’s Center, and Residence Life. Students are encouraged to interact with numerous areas of the MSU community and are encouraged to network with other students and faculty and staff to enhance their leadership experience.

Faculty can particularly be involved with Student Leadership Programs by presenting and facilitating at student workshops, programs and conferences and by serving as advisors to student clubs and organizations.

How can Student Leadership Programs help you as a faculty member?

Student Leadership Programs communicates frequently with student leaders through e-mail distribution lists, as well as through the department Web site and is able to publicize programs or initiatives to help faculty reach student leaders. The office also provides opportunities for faculty to present, facilitate, and/or participate in student programs, workshops, conferences, and community service initiatives, including the winter Student Leadership Retreat and the fall Student Leadership Institute.
The purpose of the Center for Student Involvement (CSI) is to complement the academic program and enhance the overall educational experience of the students by engaging them in civic, cultural, recreational and social initiatives. CSI provides an environment in which student can:

- Participate in the campus and greater community.
- Develop a sense of self, university and civic pride.
- Engage in a campus environment conducive to growth, development and discovery.

How can the Center for Student Involvement help you as a faculty and staff member?

The goal of the Center for Student Involvement is to enhance and stimulate the overall educational experience of students through the development of, exposure to and participating in social, cultural diversity and educational programs. The CSI office is willing to work with faculty to facilitate programs, which will enhance the co-curricular experience of the student.

Faculty members also have a unique opportunity to serve as advisors to student organizations. This is a wonderful experience for students to work with faculty outside of the classroom, gaining valuable knowledge from their expertise. CSI serves as a resource to all advisors, providing workshops on policies and procedure as well as a sounding board when tackling issues within the student organizations. This experience also allows faculty members the opportunity to connect with students in a more relaxed, informal atmosphere building relationship that last long after graduation.

Faculty and staff members are encouraged to attend the many programs sponsored by CSI, including the various trips to Broadway. All of our events are open to faculty and staff. Faculty and staff members can opt to receive “In the Loop”, a weekly email providing information on campus programming. Faculty and staff members are encouraged to visit the CSI Web site: www.montclair.edu/csi, to receive more information about other services including Greek Life, Student Activities, Commuter Life, Voter & Civic Engagement and the Volunteer Center.

The Mission of the Disability Resource Center (DRC) is to unite the Montclair State University community in an effort to provide students with disabilities the excellence and equity in education to which they are legally entitled. Support from faculty is integral to the achievement of this mission. It is the hope of the DRC that sharing this information will promote collaboration between the DRC and faculty as well as provide you with some strategies, to see that all students are encouraged to meet their full potential.

Although it may seem simpler to just accommodate students directly without the involvement of the DRC, that approach can be risky. The DRC has the expertise to ascertain whether the request is appropriate and reasonable. If you provide an accommodation without proper documentation, other students can challenge this treatment as preferential. Also, by providing an unsubstantiated accommodation, a pattern is set under which a student can claim to be “considered as having a disability” under the law. Therefore when students approach faculty about disability issues, it is strongly recommend that they are referred to the DRC.

Section 504 and the ADA are very specific regarding confidentiality issues. Students voluntarily affiliate themselves with DRC, and the responsibility to protect their confidentiality is taken seriously.

How can the Disability Resource Center help you as a faculty member?
Although it may seem contradictory to some that the DRC’s goal is to team with the faculty to accommodate the student; that is our true mission. The center advocates for students, but is also available to consult with and assist faculty in meeting the University’s legal responsibilities to students with disabilities.

The law permits dissemination of disability-related information on a “need to know” basis only. Therefore when faculty is alerted, the center is permitted to disclose only the existence, not the nature, of a disability and what accommodations are necessary to equalize access to learning for that student. Asking intrusive questions of the student or discussing the student’s disability with others, no matter how well-intentioned, is a violation of federal law.
Montclair State University’s Educational Opportunity Fund Program (EOF) provides access for motivated state residents from underrepresented populations/areas that meet the income criteria and exhibit the potential for high achievement. The Educational Opportunity Fund Program provides quality academic support, leadership development, financial literacy, career enrichment, intentional counseling/advisement, and need based financial assistance to maximize the intellectual and social growth of all participants. The EOF community fully engages scholars in curricular and co-curricular experiences ultimately producing active alumni dedicated to lifelong learning and global citizenship.

How can the Educational Opportunity Fund Program help you as a faculty member?

EOF Students are assigned EOF Professional Counselors who can be used as a resource for a student’s academic development (tutoring, writing workshops, etc.). Progress reports are sent to faculty members for EOF students and other select special admit populations to ensure students maximize the use of their academic resources.
Student Financial Aid assists more than 13,000 Montclair students with over 200 million (AY 18/19) in student aid funding. Students who file the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) receive aid from a variety of federal, state, and institutional programs in the form of grants and scholarships, educational loans and student employment. In addition, students are counseled on questions they may have related to how they will finance their Montclair education. The staff’s goal is to have students and families maximize their aid eligibility and make smart decisions on the best way to finance their Montclair education.

The Financial Aid staff assists students with making short and long term financial choices. Should a student work multiple off-campus jobs or take out a student loan? Is it better to take courses over the summer? What are the benefits of graduating in four years? These are the types of questions students should consider when they decide how they will finance their Montclair education and Financial Aid can provide information for smart decision making.

How can Student Financial Aid help you as a faculty member?

Faculty members should refer students to Student Financial Aid when the students express concerns over paying educational expenses. Financial Aid staff will assist students in securing funding for both the direct costs (tuition, fees, room and board), and the indirect costs (books, purchase of a computer) to attend the university.

Faculty members are also asked to confirm that students have commenced attendance each term so that student can received their Federal Financial Aid Funds. Faculty are encouraged to report attendance as early in the term as possible.

Faculty members should also be aware of Federal Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) requirements students are required to meet to retain financial aid eligibility. There are quantitative and qualitative requirements which are detailed on the Financial Aid Web site, https://www.montclair.edu/red-hawk-central/paying-for-college/sap-regulations/. These requirements may influence decisions students make regarding the dropping of courses, changing majors, or other decisions related to course selection.
All students, faculty, and staff are required to have a Montclair State University issued photo identification card (ID Card). The University ID Card must be carried at all times while on campus.

The University ID Card is used for access to University Buildings and Events, Panzer Gym, the Campus Recreation Center, and to check out materials from Sprague Library. Faculty/Staff Meal Plans and Red Hawk Dollars are also accessed by the University ID Card.

Obtaining Your Faculty/Staff ID Card:

In order to obtain an ID Card, faculty and staff must have completed all verification and processing with the Human Resources Department 48 hours prior to the ID Card request. Data feeds from Human Resources determine who is eligible for an ID Card. ID Cards can only be processed for faculty and staff whose data has been fed into the ID Card System from Human Resources. If you are not in the ID Card System, you must contact Human Resources to resolve any outstanding issues. Two forms of valid identification (one form of valid photo identification is mandatory) are required at the time of ID Card processing.

The University bookstore is your one stop shopping source for “things you need-stuff you want.” Books, apparel, gifts, gift cards, computer products, dorm and school supplies are offered. Campus reseller for Apple computer.

How can the bookstore help you as a faculty member?

Whether it’s submitting what textbook you’re adopting next semester, reviewing peer critiques of a potential textbook selection, adding course-pack materials, the University Bookstore has a tremendous offering of products and services for you.

How can faculty save the students money?

If you turn in your adoptions before or by the deadline, the Bookstore can get a head start on shopping for used textbooks and can plan buyback accordingly. Used books save students lots of money. With readopting books, we can keep the flow of used books circulating on our campus and pay the maximum value at buyback.

What are the concerns with custom bundles or books?

With custom bundles and books, there is normally a slower turn-around time in getting the order in and publishers usually do not allow the bookstores to return them. Reorders are usually the biggest problem since publishers do not usually keep custom products in stock. Other concerns include refund issues. Most bundles do not qualify for Buyback.

If I know what textbook I am using for several semesters in advance, should I let the Bookstore know? Why?

Yes. This may save students money because we can buy back more books from students during Book Buyback and can better plan for used book purchases and returns.

Who should I contact if I need to speak to someone about my textbook adoption?

You may call (973) 655-7391.
